Authority Christology Motherland

September 30, 2010

The Rev. David R. Graham

Authority lives in the Hearts of the Believers.

The Face of the Christ is the Face of the Creature.

The Motherland is Who She is, She cannot be transformed.

John Hinderaker placed this post on Powerline on Tuesday 28SEP10. The post contained these sentences:

"The Golden Rule is a fine idea, but it is not a principle of Christianity. Nor did Jesus ever say that we should be our brothers' and sisters' keepers; Obama apparently referred to the story of Cain and Abel."

On Wednesday 29SEP10 and subsequently, the post contains these sentences:

"The Golden Rule is a fine idea, but it is not a principle of unique to Christianity. Nor did Jesus ever say that we should be our brothers' and sisters' keepers; Obama apparently referred to the story of Cain and Abel."

Yes, and the US Constitution and US jurisprudence are unrelated to English Common Law.

And the Old Testament is not an equal member, with the New Testament, of the Christian Canon, nor is the Parable of the Good Samaritan, nor is the query of the rich man on how to get into the kingdom of heaven (which does not equal "heaven," even in First Century Essene/Christian eschatology).

OOOOOOOOKAY So John corrected one howler and left standing another. And he did not see the critical error, that the personality claims to have chosen Christianity. Now, no one chooses Christianity, no one ever can or ever has. Christianity chooses one, or does not.

Pity lawyers know as little about theology as theologians do about law. Or better, pity lawyers know as little about justice as theologians do about reality.

The nation's academic curriculum cries out for reformation towards the unity of thoroughness, and with that, brand new accrediting organizations to match and foster. Our educated classes are an ill-formed cement suit, un-self-critical. The nation has been cheated by her clergy/professoriate, who chased after flickers of notoriety they called prominence.

We're back to fundamentals now: where is authority?, what is the Face of the Christ?, what is the Base and what is the Mission?

We've seen in the open what these things are not. We have to say what they are, really are.

Authority Christology Motherland

People are chasing about to find what is true. They'll never find it.

People are spending around to have what is satisfying. They'll never get it.

People are looking for God here or there or over there. He isn't there, or here.

People are hoping to rest. They can't in time.

People want what is authentic to take care of them. There isn't such and it can't, or won't.

The Face Of The Christ Is
The Face Of The Creature
